Right Weigh Clinic Privacy Policy

Right Weigh Clinic is dedicated to protecting your medical information. We are required by law to maintain the privacy of protected health information and to provide you with this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to protected health information. Right Weigh Clinic is required by law to abide by the terms of this notice, and we reserve the right to change this notice, making any revision applicable to all the protected health information we maintain. If we revise the terms of this notice, we will post a revised notice at the clinic and will make paper copies of the Notice of Privacy Practices for Protected Health Information available upon request.

How Your Medical Information will be used and disclosed:

We will use your medical information as part of rendering patient care. For example, your health care information may be used by the healthcare professional treating you, by the business office to process your payment for services rendered, and by the administrative personnel reviewing the quality and appropriateness of the care you receive. We may also use and/or disclose your information in accordance with federal and state laws for the following purposes:

- To remind you of appointments
- To tell you about other treatments you may need
- When required by the USDHHS
- To family, relatives, or friends involved in your care if you give permission.
- To State Department of Health for public health surveillance
- To a health oversight agency if authorized by law
- To a court of law in the course of judicial proceedings
- To a law enforcement, coroner, medical examiner, or worker's compensation when authorized
- For research purposes

We will not disclose your medical information for any other purpose without your written authorization. Once given, you may revoke your authorization at any time.
